

Inspired by the Negro Motorist's Green Book, HTE Lantern Guide is a digital assessment tool that helps team members share and track individual and organizational progress in workplace wellness. The technology utilizes personal stories to illuminate pathways toward sustainable social change in your workplace.

LANTERN GUIDE

Imagine having a method for communities and prospective employees to have access to a visual story map of your company's diversity, equity and inclusion journey. Through Harriet Tubman Effect's Lantern Guide, you can navigate the blossoming story of your organization's commitment to DEI values while moving toward your wellness and measurable DEI goals.

Researchers at the Harriet Tubman Effect were inspired by Bryan Joseph Lee's TedX Talk, A Green Book for the American Theater, and began development of the Lantern Guide in 2022. From October to December 2023, six organizations will undergo the pilot program and welcome new organizations to the work in January 2024. SIGN UP FOR THE PILOT

Through a monthly data gathering session with an HTE representative, you can build stories that include systemic wins, sustainable practices for equitable change and areas of growth that are in need of care to shift systems. The technology uses a values-based data filter to help employees share their wins and observations all under the guidance of a trained HTE representative.
